DETAILED ACTION

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Martin D. Moynihan on April 02, 2009, "cancel claims 34-41 and 43".

Reasons for Allowance

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: In response to the office action, dated 12/03/08, further in view of applicant's response filed on 04/02/09, Applicant's response and/or amendments have been carefully reviewed, and a searched. The arguments with respect to claim 1 and 42 have been respectfully considered and persuasive, and therefore, the rejection of the last office action has been withdrawn.

Further, According to the last Office action mailed on April 26, 2009, claims 1-33 and 42 were rejected as indicated in the last communication. Prior to the last Office action the non-elected claims 34-41 and 43 were indicated withdrawn, in response filed by applicant. The non-elected claims 34-41 and 43, which were withdrawn from examination are now cancelled by above indicated examiner's amendment. The currently pending claims 1 through 33 and 42, which were elected prior to the last Office action have been carefully reviewed and searched. Claims are believed to be in condition for allowance for the reasons discussed below:

Claims 1-33 and 42 are considered allowable since when reading the claims in light of the specification, none of the references searched and of record alone or in combination disclose or suggest the combination of limitations as specified in independent claims 1 and 42 including all dependent claims depend on therefrom. Specifically, Referring to claims 1-33, the prior art searched and of record neither anticipates nor suggests, a method for enforcing a distribution policy with respect to content information transmitted within a facsimile format from a sending fax machine to a recipient fax machine as fax traffic, the method comprising: defining an information distribution policy with respect to said content information within said fax traffic; monitoring the fax traffic in accordance with said distribution policy, said monitoring, demodulating said fax traffic being monitored into a digital stream; reconstructing from said digital stream a graphic image, of said content information within said facsimile format, said graphic image representing at least part of the content information within said fax traffic; and analyzing said content information within said reconstructed image, and applying said distribution policy with respect to said reconstructed and analyzed content information within said fax traffic.

Further, with respect to claim 42, the prior art searched and of record neither anticipates nor suggests, a method for enforcing a distribution policy with respect to content information transmitted in facsimile format via fax server, the method defining an information distribution policy with respect to said content information within said fax traffic; monitoring the fax traffic in accordance with said distribution policy, said monitoring, reconstructing from said digital stream a graphic image representing at least part of the content information within said facsimile format within said fax traffic; and analyzing information within the content information in said reconstructed image, and applying said distribution policy with respect to said reconstructed content information within said fax traffic. Therefore, claims 1-33 and 42 are allowed for the reasons discussed above.

Thus claims 1 and 42 are believed to be novel and inventive since there is no suggestion in the cited prior art that teaches or discloses the claimed invention as amended, including those all dependent claims depend on the main allowed claims.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
